DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. Figures 1, 2, and 6 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). Corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, line 1, "contactor" should be reinstated. Claims 2-10 inherit the defect in their parent claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kurasawa, et al.(US2002/0067231), cited on applicant's IDS.

Kurasawa discloses an electromagnetic contactor for an electric starter motor, comprising: connection terminals 13, a movable core 6, a main stationary core 10, an axial air gap provided between the movable core and the main stationary core, a tubular coil 4 to produce a magnetic current in the air gap provided between the movable core and the main stationary core during excitation, a magnetic circuit provided with a case (5,8,9) constructed with magnetic frame attached to the stationary core, an insulating cap 14 enclosing the contacts of the electric power, said case being composed of a metal bell-shaped housing 5, an internal ferrule 8 made of magnetic material surrounding the coil, and a washer 9 acting as an additional stationary core through which the movable core passes, and arranged opposite the main stationary core, characterized in that the metal housing 5 of the case comprises an annular rib 5d extending continuously opposite the cylindrical periphery of the main stationary core, said rib having an internal diameter respectively greater than that of the ferrule and smaller than that of the housing, so as to ensure the locking of the different parts of the case[0029]. Applicant's specification on page 10, describes the claimed rib as "Two sloping sides extend on either side of this centering portion to define with said portion the rib 21."

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kurasawa, et al., cited above, and further in view of applicant's admitted prior art in fig. 2 .

Kurasawa did not disclose serrations on the end of the housing 5 to immobilize the cap 14 from rotation. Applicant in his specification, on page 5, discloses serrations on the end of the housing for the purpose of immobilizing the cap from rotation. Since Kurasawa and applicant's admitted prior art are both from the same field of endeavor, the purpose disclosed by applicant's admitted prior art would have been recognized in the pertinent art of Kurasawa. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to apply serrations on the end of the housing in Kurasawa for the purpose of immobilizing the cap from rotation.

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claims 2-5 and 7-10 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

9. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: None of the prior art of record disclosed or reasonably suggested the crimping of the housing on the stationary core following local deformations exerted on the reduced diameter of the swaged part defining the rib.
